PICNIC AT COLLETON.

The ball farm along with merry making last week on the occasion of the joint picnic under the auspices of the Colleton and Macdonald temperance societies.

The interest settled in a baseball match between the two teams and one composed of the N. W. M. Police men. The result of 26 to 10 in favor of our boys showed the stuff farmers are made of, and Fred McFadden opened the eyes of visitors when he took the pole and cleared the bar six inches above all comers, but the best, stop and jump was a surprise party.

Const. H. Z. must have got mad, for he made three stretches which convinced the local sports that in this particular line one wants legs as well as staying power if he hopes to shine.

During the afternoon visitors from Prince Albert began to gather, among others J. F. Betts, M. J. A., president of the base ball club. Every one was pleased to see him and he seemed glad to see his constituents, and when the ball game was reported to him he was the proudest man in the party.

The ladies worked while the men sport and a long stretch of linen marking table on the soil was loaded with choice provisions, to which all were invited, was the result. At five o'clock visitors from a distance began to start for home.

Since then the boys don't seem to speak so well of Mr. Betts as usual. Rumor has it that while he came alone, when he went away he carried one of our most charming daughters with him. This may account for the change of feeling.
At night a ball brought the holiday to a close everyone satisfied with the days outing and determined the picnic a yearly institution.

We expect to see Mr. TIMES on the spot next year.

THE EXCURSION.

For years the Prince Albert people have been grumbling at the steamboat company for neglecting to provide cheap excursion trips. This year the energetic punter, Mr. McGinn, prevailed upon the company to meet the demand and an excursion to Bittelford on the commodious "Northwest," in command of Capt. Douglas, was the result; but the scores of people who have been asking for cheap trips, failed to respond and only about a dozen of our people took advantage of what proved to be a most delightful holiday.

Accommodating officers, a clean boat, fine weather and a royal reception at the ancient capital all tended to make the trip one long to be remembered. Owing to head winds the cruiser was a little longer than usual in making the trip, which caused the stay at Bittelford to be somewhat curtailed; but this was the limited number of passengers lessened the generous hospitality of Bittelford citizens. From early morning up till 4 o'clock p.m. the hour fixed for starting on the return trip, whiling people seemed to vie with each other in showing our citizens that their visit was a welcome one. At 4 o'clock Principal Clarke and his staff, together with the pupils of the Industrial School, accompanied by the school band, visited the boat, when music of a high class and short speeches were indulged in for a short time, during which the good influence of some Bittelford people was brought to bear on Capt. Douglas and he consented to tie-up till morning in order that the original intention of having a ball in honor of the visitors might be gone on with. Fully a hundred people afterwards assembled and a night of enjoyment followed. The visiting party all express themselves as delighted with the trip and are particularly expressive in their praises of the Bittelford people and the beauties of their town and country.

GENERAL NEWS.

Berlin, June 22.—Particulars of a series of tragic duels have been received from Prussia-Poland. A wealthy land owner, Baron Lezanski, insulted a lady of the famous noble family of Von Roon. The immediate representative of the lady's family at once challenged the baron, and in the duel the count was killed. Another Count Von Roon became the lady's champion and he too was slain by the baron. A third count of the same name then met the baron on the field of honor, but he fared a little better than his predecessors, for though he was severely wounded he may survive. The lady has a host of male relatives remaining, and it is said that Baron Ledemski will have to fight duels until he has either been killed himself or has exterminated the whole of the Von Roon family.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

It is with great pleasure that we are enabled to inform our many readers that, after this issue, this paper will be enlarged. This is necessary to be in keeping with the rapid growth of our town and country.

The Saskatchewan which has been published for about three years will, with to-day's issue, cease publication, and arrangements have been made by which The Saskatchewan and THE PRINCE ALBERT TIMES will be amalgamated and published by us, solely under our control.

The change, we believe, is in the interests of Prince Albert and the large and fertile district tributary to it.

We will support all good measures no matter from what source they may emanate, particularly all measures affecting the North West.

The present Federal government has done much in the interest of the North West and as long as it adopts a liberal and progressive policy towards this country we will give it an honest and fair support, reserving at all times the right to criticize any measure adverse to our interests.

We shall endeavor to make THE SASKATCHEWAN TIMES, newsy and interesting, and ask from all those who have an interest in our town and country to give us a liberal support in our new endeavor to build up this beautiful portion of our fair Dominion which may justly be termed the garden of the Dominion.

THE ULSTER DEMONSTRATION.

The accounts which the cable has brought of the great Ulster convention picture one of the most remarkable political gatherings of modern times. We on this continent, and, for that matter the people of England also, are accustomed, in great political gatherings on the eve of election, to quite a different scene than that enacted at Belfast on Friday afternoon. Here, we have plenty of excitement and enthusiasm—men shouting themselves hoarse in greetings to popular leaders, or cheering to the echo political hits which strike their fancy. But never in Canada, and we doubt if anywhere else in modern times than this gathering at Belfast, has been there seen an assemblage of ten thousand people, with all the pent up excitement which great masses on the eve of an impending contest are sure to engender, reverently listening to a venerable archbishop solemnly opening a political meeting with prayer, followed by an ex-moderator of the Presbyterian church giving out the words of the grand old Psalm commencing "God is our refuge and our strength, a very present help in time of trouble." It can easily be understood how such words as these would appeal to the vast assemblage in the circumstances under which they were gathered; and, if, as one account says, they joined in singing, the refrain which marks the divisions of the psalm, "The Lord of Hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge," must have swelled up with such volume as might well catch the imagination of those who were present, and live in their memories. And then, though the singing of our grand national anthem is something we are accustomed to in political gatherings throughout the Empire, this great assemblage was as striking in its close as its commencement, being terminated by the benediction pronounced by a leading clergyman of the Methodist denomination. Our people in Canada hold different views on the question now being fought out in Ireland, and we have plenty of problems of our own to settle, it is not well we should add to them the disputing over the domestic affairs of our brethren beyond the sea. Probably, viewing the contest from a distance, none of us would be inclined to take the extreme view of either side. But, whatever our views may be, there can be no gainsaying the fact that this great Ulster convention was a remarkable meeting—that it was something more than an ordinary gathering of mere politicians, and indicates a depth of feeling among classes not ordinarily drawn into political discussion, such as is rarely seen on the eve of a contest.

The Empire says: The efforts made by the Toronto Public School Board in the direction of inculcating patriotism among the pupils are most commendable, and it is to be hoped that the coming celebration will be the means of arousing still greater interest and enthusiasm. The concert to be held with 2,000 children taking part in patriotic and other songs, is sure to be a great success, and it is to be hoped, that the proposed procession of the drill corps of the school will be equally successful, and that the boys will turn out in large numbers. But there are other means of inculcating a national sentiment, and a Buffalo paper points out how this patriotic education of the nation's "heirs apparent," is being conducted in the United States: "Through the school house flag movement, and the education in patriotism aroused by it, the schools of the republic have been grasping the significance of their relation to the life of the nation. As our 13,000,000 of public school pupils see committed to them the celebration of America's greatest anniversary, they will receive a new and inspiring lesson in the responsibilities of the public leadership which devolves upon the educated American." The flag raising movement in the States is one well worthy of imitation here. It has taken root in many places in Canada; let it be followed up by many more, and the day will come when the British and Canadian flag will afford to every pupil in the land an instructive lesson in honor, patriotism and loyalty.

Mr. Betts describes the industrial School at Battleford as one of the most perfect institutions he has ever had the pleasure of visiting. Under the able management of the Rev. Mr. Clarke, assisted by Mr. Ashby and a staff of excellent teachers, the results are certain to be most satisfactory. He is strongly of the opinion that such schools properly located throughout the Territories would settle the Indian question and that within a few years it would find numbers of our Indian population taking prominent and active parts in the development of the country.

This will be an important year for the Democracy. They have just nominated for the third time as the standard bearer of their party the man who has so long, and, it must be supposed, so ably advocated a reduction of the tariff—Governor Cleveland. His election, and with some degree of truth, that this is the tidal wave of Democracy. The wave of 1874, which elected a Democratic Congress, had not spent its force when President 1876, was elected over it, as President of the United States, although political juggling carried him out of the position. In 1882 again a sweeping majority was given the Democrats in Congress, followed two years later by Mr. Cleveland's election as President. In 1890, 'as everyone remembers, the protest against McKinley made itself felt, and the Republican party was almost wiped out of the House of Representatives, and now the Democrats claim that the electoral college year has come again, and they intend to win once more.

The London Graphic of a recent date dwells upon the possibilities of a trade in horses between Canada and England, and points out that while the cost of export is somewhat greater to England than the United States, yet the price realized is sufficient to make it well worth Canadians to raise the style of horses desired. At a recent sale a number of Canadian horses sold at from 65 upwards, and as high as 160. They were in the main hack and carriage horses, and a farm bred.

The young men of Prince Albert are organizing an athletic association with a view of opening a first class gymnasium. This is a step in the right direction. The efforts of Const. Case have been greatly appreciated by those who took part in his physical training classes. The athletic games of the ancients not only improved the physical development of the people, but tended directly to advance their intellectual and moral culture. The early and long training by which they were preceded and the exercises through which the child, the youth and the man were conducted by successive stages, culminated at length in that noblest of beauty and strength in which physical perfection consists, and in which the ancient Greeks surpassed every other nation. The conquerors in the Olympic games were held in high respect, and were looked upon as the noblest and happiest men.

LONDON, June 29.—The executive committee of the Scottish Home Rule Association is dissatisfied with the vagueness of Gladstone's reply to inquiries regarding Home Rule for Scotland, and has written a letter to him declaring that the association will be unable to support him in the approaching general election.

DETROIT, June 16.—Paul Patillo, the well known pugilist and athlete, met with a frightful death yesterday afternoon by falling from the seventh story of Pingree & Smith's building, to the roof of an adjoining building, seventy feet, while painting. Several men on the floor below saw the body of a man falling through the air and rushed out to see who it was. When they reached the unfortunate man he was lying on the roof of an adjoining building, and life was already extinct. Patillo leaves a wife and family in Toronto.

"German Syrup"

We have selected two or three lines from letters freshly received from parents who have given German Syrup to their children in the emergencies of Croup. You will credit these, because they come from good, substantial people, happy in finding what so many families lack—a medicine containing no evil drug, which mother can administer with confidence to the little ones in their most critical hours, safe and sure that it will carry them through.

Ed. L. WILLITS, of Mrs. JAS. W. KIRK, Alma, Neb. I give it to my children when troubled with Croup and never saw any preparation act like it. It is simply miraculous. Daughters' College, Harrodsburg, Ky. I have depended upon it in attacks of Croup with my little daughter, and find it an invaluable remedy.

Fully one-half of our customers are mothers who use Boschee's German Syrup among their children. A medicine to be successful with the little folks must be a treatment for the sudden and terrible foes of childhood, whooping cough, croup, diphtheria and the dangerous inflammations of delicate throats and lungs. ©
